

Our Technology Enhances Your Screening Process

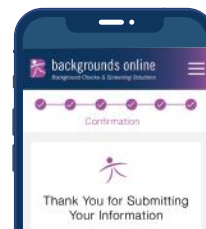

Leverage our proprietary tools to minimize your efforts and expedite hiring.

How It Started

Not long ago, Human Resources professionals were required to do a large amount of manual data entry throughout the hiring and background screening process. They would fill out lengthy forms that requested information about each applicant. This often required the HR team to spend time contacting potential candidates to ensure they had the correct information.

Aside from being time-consuming, this often created other problems. For example, if someone entered a Social Security Number incorrectly, it would delay the screening process. Or if a person's handwriting was difficult to read, it could require additional follow-ups to ensure the person or group that was processing the background check had everything they needed.

How It's Going

Today, background screening is fast and efficient. Organizations can submit requests in less than a minute. When you need to place an order, take advantage of our Applicant Submittal feature which asks your candidates to provide the data we need directly to us. This ensures your team doesn't waste time and is free to perform other essential tasks.

When utilizing this feature, your candidates receive a unique link to our secure site where they can enter their own data. This also opens a line of communication between us and the people you are considering so we can reach out to them if we have any questions.

On top of that, your candidates will be asked to sign Disclosure, Authorization and other required documents. We also show them applicable state laws and provide links to useful information they might need. This bolsters and simplifies your compliance efforts.
